

Our Mission

Thursday, 19 August 2004

This Website has been created as a voice for countless millions of women, men, and their families who suffer religious persecution under China's communist regime.

We welcome our visitors to review the material we have documented, to appreciate the great risk those sharing this material have taken to share it with the free world, and to work and pray together for religious freedom.